CHAPTER SIX

Richard Howell Ashmore B.A., 1903-1905

MR.ASHMORE'S APPOINTMENT

R.H.Ashmore was one of several applicants for the post of Headmaster, when it was advertised in the Belfast press and in the Irish Times in August 1903. Those applicants were sent the following information by the Governors.

There is an income of about £80 which, under the Scheme, the Governors may apply in maintaining, or aiding in maintaining, in or near Bangor, an Intermediate School. There are no school buildings under the Scheme. The income from the endowment has hitherto been paid to the Headmaster of Bangor Grammar School, W.G.Conolly LL.D. . . . Dr.Conolly has used, for the purpose of the School, two dwelling houses, the rent of which, £90, and taxes, was paid by him. One of these houses, he used for the School and the other for Boarders. In the School, he has fitted up a Science Laboratory, at a cost of about £100. The average number of pupils has been 40 dayboys and 16 boarders; average fees: dayboys £7-10-0, Boarders £40. Dr.Conolly is prepared to dispose of his interests in the Grammar School buildings on favourable terms - about £100, inclusive of laboratory. The only income under the control of the Governors is the above sum of about £80. Dr.Conolly employed three assistant masters. In short, the School was under the sole control and management of Dr.Conolly, but the Governors, during his tenure of office, paid him the income arising from the endowment funds. Dr.Conolly informs me that the fees from the Intermediate and Technical Departments last year amounted to about £160 and the fees from dayboys to about £240.

W.Irwin Mahaffy, Hon.Sec. Ward Villa East, Bangor'

Mr.Ashmore was born in Creevelea County Leitrim on 22nd February 1872, the son of Rev.John and Mrs.Martha Ashmore. He was the unanimous choice of the Governors, on condition that 'he open a school satisfactory to the Governors'. Presumably he agreed, although he did tell them not to apply for a renewal of recognition of classes in Experimental Science and Drawing, and so the £23-7-8, received from the Department of Agriculture and Technical Instruction, as a result of Dr.Conolly's request for a grant towards the purchase of scientific apparatus more than two years earlier, was forwarded to him in Waterford.<sup>1</sup> He did, however, commence Evening Classes in September 1904, 'to read for Royal University Examinations'.<sup>2</sup>

It is said that numbers attending the School were small, many of the pupils having transferred to the Royal Belfast Academical Institution and that the School was using the Good Templar Hall in Hamilton Road, next door to the present Northern Bank building, the home of the Ward School with which there was great rivalry. However, the only reference in the Board of Governors' Minutes to that hall is to its use for a month in 1893. Mr.Ashmore was said to be living in 'Belgravia, Seacliff' (a terrace at 176-182 Seacliffe Road).

Thomas McBride recalled:

'In Mr.Ashmore's time, the School was to a certain extent nomandic. It passed from College Gardens to that thirsty land of the Good Templar Hall, to 20 Princetown Road, back to College Gardens and finally, with Mr.McFeeters Headmaster, it arrived at its present site'.<sup>4</sup>

THE SEARCH FOR A PERMANENT HOME

Less than two months after his arrival, Mr.Ashmore wrote to the Governors about the possibility of erecting new school buildings<sup>5</sup>, and it was during his brief stay in Bangor, that positive steps were taken to procure a permanent home for the School. Several years after the original school building had been sold the Spectator commented that the School had, 'suffered a loss of prestige owing to the Governors having, in a weak moment, surrendered to the wish of a former Principal, [presumably Dr.Conolly] and left the old Endowed School . . . in order to migrate into rented premises.' However, the Spectator continued by saying that the purchase of the building by the Council had enable them to vacate 'their mud cabin in Ballymagee Street'!<sup>6</sup>

On several occasions during the Autumn of 1903, the Urban Council, too, lobbied the Governors on the subject of erecting new premises. It was they, who called a public meeting in the Guild Hall of First Bangor Presbyterian Church, on 12 November 1903. Several weeks later, when Mr. John McMeekan J.P., Chairman of Bangor Urban District Council, himself a former pupil, (and the author's great-great uncle), reported on the outcome of that meeting, he urged the Governors to 'push ahead with a scheme for the erection of a new school' and, as a result, a joint committee was formed.<sup>7</sup>

'The Governors of the School, together with a number of residents, formed a committee to endeavour to raise sufficient money to enable them to build a school, adequate to the demands made upon the Governors. Mr.W.I.Mahaffy [representing the Governors] and Mr.T.J. McConnell, J.P. [representing the Urban Council] were appointed joint secretaries of the scheme. '8

The Maxwell Road site, first inspected by the Governors in 1899, was apparently still being considered towards the end of 1904, when John McMeekan told the Governors that he had heard that some of them were dissatisfied with that site, and that the Committee, of which he was one, also thought it unsuitable. Several weeks later, the Governors inspected sites at Central Avenue, Princetown Road, Upper Clifton Road, Prospect Road and a site on Hamilton Road, 'beside the Golf Club' (presumably where the Tonic Cinema was eventually built, which would have been adjacent to the original Connor House!). Mr.Ashmore even suggested renting a portion of the Technical School, which the Urban Council was planning to build, but on 4 March 1905, on the proposal of F.H.G.Wilson, seconded by Rev.Dr.James Robertson, the Governors decided that they should take steps to 'acquire a site of one acre in the proposed new road off Ballyholme Road, at a rent of £14 per year, the landlord to make the road, and if possible to acquire the entire field, containing 1.352 acres'.9 An undated map makes the unlikely assertion that the site was conveyed from Lord 'Clanmorris to the Board of Governors Bangor E.S., 3rd September 1906', the month of the opening of the new building.

MR.ASHMORE'S DEPARTURE

During Mr.Ashmore's principalship, the only assistant teacher mentioned in the Belfast and Province of Ulster Directory was Thomas McBride, who taught Mathematics and Science. There is no reference to Mr.Finlay, Mr.Moffatt or the other Assistant Masters, mentioned during Dr.Conolly's Headmastership. Mr.Ashmore was, allegedly, not popular with the parents, who ultimately mounted a campaign against him which led to his departure. The last straw was, apparently, an occasion when he took a party of boys out in a yacht without notifying the parents of his intention, and was driven by a storm across to Portpatrick. 'The Headmaster was forced to leave, and the boys were removed from the School in large numbers'. The Board of Governors' Minutes for 18 March 1905 refer, rather cryptically, to a letter from Mr. Ashmore and, 'after discussion, Mr. Ashmore informed the Governors that he had decided to resign'. It can be assumed that he was asked to resign, for it is unlikely that Mr. Ashmore would have gone of his own accord, since just two weeks earlier the Governors' had decided to acquire a site for new premises.

In May 1905, it was reported that,

'The money received [from the sale of the Old Schoolhouse] is available to build another school, an undertaking which has been, for more than a year, under consideration, but is as far off as ever.' 11

In fact it was not 'as far off as ever' for, six weeks earlier, that same newspaper had carried a report of a meeting of the Committee, of which Rev.R.J.Morrell, Minister of Trinity Presbyterian Church, was Chairman, which reported on behalf of the Governors, that they had 'secured a site off the Ballyholme Road, about an acre and a half, from the Estate Office at a reasonable rent'. The Secretary also reported that W.J.Crosbie [sic] had generously offered to give £300, provided the £1500 necessary for building the School was raised inside two years. Strangely, the Minutes of the Board of Governors make no reference to Mr.Crosby's generous offer.

Mr.Ashmore subsequently went to Canada where he became Principal of Cranbrook High School in British Columbia. In November 1916 he joined the Canadian Overseas Expeditionary Force as a Private in 2nd Field Ambulance, Canadian Army Medical Corps and just six months later, on 6 May 1917, he was killed 'while succouring the wounded'. He was survived by his wife Mary, who was living in Mission City, British Columbia and he was buried in the cemetery of Aubigny-en-Artois, some 15 kilometres north west of Arras.<sup>13</sup> His name is on the School War Memorial.

Plans for the new School were drawn up, but by the time a sketch of the proposed building appeared in the Spectator in December 1905 Mr. Ashmore had been replaced by Rev.James McFeeters, B.A. R.E. Ward, who had been associated with the School since its foundation, did not live to witness these developments; on 29 November 1904, the County Down Spectator announced his death at the age of 86. He was succeeded on the Board of Governors by his only child, Matilda, Lady Clanmorris.

A sketch of the proposed building, described as 'a really handsome pile of buildings'. Note the absence of the right hand end of the modern building, and Crosby House, the Headmaster's residence, which was not built until 1914.
